Napa isn't the only flourishing viticultural region in Northern California. Stretching from the Pacific Coast to the Mayacamas Mountains, Sonoma delights with its scenic beauty, world-class wine, farm-to-table fare, and laid-back ambiance. Safe to say, this splendid destination deserves a spot on your bacchanal bucket list.

Ready to sip your way through Sonoma? Scroll on for six wineries you won't want to miss. Cheers!

The Donum Estate

The Donum Estate is a special place, where art and wine coalesce. After sipping Pinot Noir and Chardonnay in the modern hospitality space, it's off to explore the picturesque property, which is punctuated by a striking (and ever-expanding) collection of sculptures, including works by Ai Weiwei, Arturo Di Modica, and Zhan Wang.
